

Many years ago I purchased a six month old Pomeranian from a pet store because they told me the dog was too old to sell as a puppy and would be euthanized. I had the dog for 12 years and he was very sickly from the first day but we grew attached so I continued to pay the veterinary bills. I would estimate the total cost for vet bills to be in the neighborhood of fifteen thousand dollars over the 12 years.

This dog came from Missouri according to the papers. They are notorious for having many many puppy mills. Anything you can do to stop the sale of these animals is the humane thing to do.

Thank you;
